Karoonda East Murray Council welcomes new CEO

The new Chief Executive Officer of Karoonda East Murray Council says he's looking forward to working closely with the community to create a long term vision for the region.

On Wednesday, Karoonda East Murray Mayor Kevin Burdett announced the appointment of Matthew Morgan to the role, who will begin with Council on 8 January.

"I am pleased to welcome Matthew and his wife and children to the community of Karoonda. We're looking forward to the next few years under his leadership," Mayor Burdett says.

Mr Morgan has more than a decade of experience in the Local Government sector, coming from various senior management roles including Acting CEO at the state's largest cemetery and funeral complex, Centennial Park.

Prior to that, Mr Morgan was the Manager of Governance and Information Services at Hepburn Shire Council at Daylesford in country Victoria.

Growing up in country Victoria, Mr Morgan said he's looking forward to moving his young family to Karoonda and getting involved in the daily life of the local community.

"Jen and I love the fact that we will be able to bring our boys up in a small town and I'm very much looking forward to be able to live where I work," he says.

"I'm used to a round trip of three hours each day to get to work, so being able to walk out my front door and arrive at work within a few minutes will certainly be a different experience for me."

Working at Centennial Park during a significant time of change for the organisation and industry, Mr Morgan said he learned the importance of building and developing relationships at a regional and state level and he hoped to bring these experiences to his role with Council.

Mr Morgan said Karoonda was a small town with huge potential and Council would be seeking to generate economic prosperity and develop "vibrancy" within the community on multiple levels.

"We need to support current industries to remain strong and viable and in the long-term, provide initiatives to encourage new businesses to the region," he says.

"If we can create strong industries and encourage new ones to transition and prosper, it will encourage more families to move here and provide opportunities to keep younger people here, and wanting to live here, for longer."

Mr Morgan said he would also look at ways to increase engagement between Council and its ratepayers through technology, a strategy which he has used to success in previous roles.

A CASA-certified drone pilot, Mr Morgan has hinted at perhaps melding his "hobby" into his role, allowing ratepayers a bird's eye view on Council activities and operations, when time permits.

As for his first few weeks in the job, Mr Morgan plans on spending the time getting a feel for his new home town and its 1,200 residents.

"I'll be getting out and meeting the locals and talking to them about everything from farming to sport and industry and where they believe the town's future lies. It's the only way to understand the issues and opportunities that face the community," he says.

The new CEO said those voices combined would form a roadmap for plans to create a longterm community vision.

"We care about our community and we want to work together towards a great future."

Please no driving on the oval
 You may have noticed increased watering of the town oval, this is to help deliver a healthier and greener– lush playing surface for the community and various sporting activities. We would like to remind visitors to our oval to please not drive or park on the oval (note this includes in front of the clubrooms). Your cooperation is appreciated.

Peter Smithson after 40 years of service

AFTER 40 years with the District Council of Karoonda East Murray, chief executive officer (CEO) Peter Smithson has said goodbye to the Karoonda community, Friday, October 6 was his last day.

Mr Smithson said it was the close-knit community he would miss most.

“There’s not too many CEOs who can walk to work,” he said. “What I love about Karoonda is the peace and quiet and the sense of community. In a small town, you know who lives where and they all look out for each other.”

In 1976, as long-haired 19-year-old, Peter became administration officer for the District Council of Karoonda.

Eighteen years later, he took on the role of District Clerk/ Overseer in 1994, which became the CEO role that he held onto till the day he finished.

Mr Smithson said the job had changed dramatically over the years, changing focus and becoming more challenging.

“In the old days, it was the three R’S: ‘roads, rates and rubbish,’” he said. “Now it’s expanded more in the recreation... people want nice parks and streetscapes and councils are charged with making this happen.”

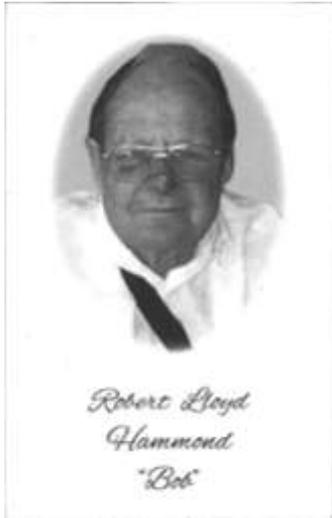

In this time, Mr Smithson has seen the community through good and bad times, including the erection of Karoonda’s famous ‘Big Ram,’ the main street redevelopment and the clean-up after a big storm which hit the district hard in 2010.

After his final day, Mr Smithson has moved to Goolwa to do more things he loves, including playing the guitar.

“I see it as a new chapter in my life... I’ve just enjoyed serving the community and doing my bit,” he said.

Remembering Bob

Thank you!

On behalf of myself and my family we would sincerely like to thank everyone for their kind thoughts, cards, and phone messages on the loss of our beloved husband, father and Pop Bob. He is surely and sadly missed. Gone Fishing!
Thanking all.

Beth Hammond and family

I can always recall Bob Hammond when I first started with Council some 40 years ago. Both he and Max Weir would ride their motorbikes up to the old Council Depot which was located on Stokes Road, Karoonda. Bob epitomised what every employer would want in an employee. He had a very strong work ethic and would be amongst those employees who were first at the Depot before start time and last to leave. He was honest and hard working and was always prepared to step in and do his bit. Yet was never one to complain. Bob was one to take up a challenge, had a positive attitude and got on well with his fellow workers. His length of service with the Council reflected how he both enjoyed and was committed to the job.

Bob and Beth enjoyed many happy times in his retirement. I would often meet Bob up the street and ask how he was going and he would tell me where he and Beth had gone travelling.

Even during his sickness Bob maintained that positive attitude which he had at work.

He will be sadly missed and our thoughts and prayers go out to Beth, Cindy, Murray and their families as they mourn the loss of a husband, father and grandfather. Rest In Peace Bob.

Peter Smithson—Former CEO

Bob was a dedicated employee of the District Council of Karoonda East Murray for some 45 and a half years up until his retirement. Past and present employees & members of Council remember him for his sense of humour and vibrant personality. Memories have been shared about Bob's mishaps on the job like when he fell about 10 feet off a ladder whilst fixing a gutter and the time he almost electrocuted himself whilst building shed extensions. Nevertheless his dedication to his job saw him return the next day. Other fond memories were watching Bob leave the depot after work on a hot day on his motorbike, no helmet and shirt wide open blowing in the wind like a Hells Angel Biekie certainly was a laugh.

Bob saw many changes with machinery in Council over the years pictured is Bob operating front end loader with no cab!

Do I need approval?

If you undertake “development” you may require Development Approval.

Some examples of development are:

- Building or extending a house
- Shed or garage
- Verandah
- Carport
- Dependent accommodation/ granny flat
- Demolition
- Retaining wall
- Fence over 2m high
- Signs
- Swimming pools
- Significant tree pruning or removal
- Change of use of land

According to the Development Act 1993, development can be any of the following:

- Building work
- A change in the use of the land, eg. An office to a shop or a change of crop from wheat to almonds
- The division of an allotment
- The creation of fortifications

Undertaking development may require a Development Application depending on the type, scale and location of the development. If development requires Development Approval, it is illegal to undertake the development without first obtaining Development Approval. If you do not obtain Development Approval when it is needed you may face prosecution or be fined. If you are unsure whether the activity you wish to undertake is development you should check with your local Council.

Why do I need approval?

Development can affect you, your neighbour and the community now and in years to come. Development Approval is required to ensure that the development is consistent with the local policy envisaged for the area which would normally be set out in your Council's Development Plan.

Development Approval is a legal requirement which has been put into place to protect individuals, the community and the environment. Undertaking development without approval is illegal and potentially dangerous. Should some damage or an incident occur your insurance may not be valid and you and/or your builder could be liable for damage caused to other people's property.

A planning approval aims to ensure that the development will not look out of place in the area and to maximise the positive impacts and minimise the potential negative impacts on the community around it. It is essential that a development be right for an area and community because it may exist for decades.

A wide variety of activities are classified as development. This could include anything from a verandah to a manufacturing shed. It is important for these developments to have the approval of the relevant authority; this may be the local government (Council) or State government (Development Assessment Commission.)

Karoonda and Districts Historical Society

It is 19 months since the new committee was formed and much progress has been made in the development of the park. Although some of the decisions may not have pleased everyone we believe that we are making some headway in the direction of ensuring that we are preserving the past as sustainably as we can and making the park more presentable and accessible.

Monthly meetings have been well attended with around 15 people coming along on a Tuesday night. Several working bees have been held with good attendance and lots of work done restoring the Blackstone motor and pump shed, repairing the church and other buildings, salvaging items and protecting them from the weather, tidying up inside the shop and Hood's house and most recently the upgrading of the garage display. We have been very fortunate to have had other community members attend the working bees as well and share their skills. We appreciate any help that can be given as there is always general tidying up to do. The lunch get together on these days gives everyone the chance to relax and socialise.

We are very pleased to have had several recent donations of items for storage and display at the park. These being:

- An early Hannaford seed grader, originally owned by Andrew Hood was donated and delivered by Mr Bruce Hood and family from Queensland. The Hoods were pioneers of the district.
- A Chevrolet car currently stored in the garage has been now donated by Don and Nan Anderson and family.
- An early model chaff cutter donated by the Hoff family.
- An engine transporter donated by Robin Smith of Sandalwood.
- A freelite lighting tower and 2 plants donated by Michael and Diane Anderson and Anthony and Julie Barr
- 2 P6 tandem tractors donated by the Wilson family from Marama.

It is reassuring to know that people see the park as a safe repository for the storage and display of these relics from our pioneering past and we thank them very much for these donations.

A windmill has been purchased and will be reconstructed for display at the entrance to town with signage to the park.

We appreciate the continued support of our district council members who have given the financial support to build a shed for storage and display of items. This development of this project is going well.

We have also been pleased to have been able to help a visitor from NSW locate the property where her grandfather lived in the 1920's. This could not have been done without the assistance of the Zadow and Heidrich families from Galga.

We were also asked to show the park to the Year 2/3 class from the school as part of their local history unit of work with Mrs Krystina Durdin.

Should you want to know more about the ongoing development of the park and have any ideas that you would like to share please speak to one of our members or come along to one of our meetings or working bees. We would like to sincerely thank everyone for their interest and support over the past year and wish you all a safe and happy festive season.

KAROONDA SCHOOL MOVES TO PRESENT SITE

On Monday November 5, 1917, just over 100 years ago, the Karoonda Primary School moved into the first stone classroom on the present site – into the room now used as the year 6 classroom. (The room now occupied by the pre-school was added on the eastern side in 1928.)

The exact date of the move out of the Institute hall to the school building was a piece of information I had not been able to find while researching the 1986 and the 2011 histories of Karoonda – all I had been able to find was a newspaper report of the end-of-year break-up event (December 18, 1917) at which the classroom – already in use for an unstated period of time – was formally opened.

In mid-2014 I found an Education Department file at State Records which contained the exact date the building was occupied.

In Karoonda East Murray: 1986-2011 (page 255) I noted that the erection of the classroom was reported in the Education Gazette of November 20, 1917. (The Education Gazette was issued monthly.) I suggested in the 2011 book that the appointment of a male teacher as of October 1, 1917, may have indicated that the residence was ready for occupation. However, another letter in the same file reveals that Mr Darwin was not married when he went to Karoonda in October 1917. A sister kept house for him and in 1918 and 1919 was the sewing teacher at the school (employed for the last two tours of the school day on Tuesdays and Thursdays). Mr Darwin married on December 31, 1919, and his wife was the sewing teacher in 1920 and 1921.

The Karoonda school has, therefore, been on the present site for just over 100 years and grown greatly from just one stone classroom and a residence for the teacher. The centenary of the first classroom presents an opportunity to reflect on the obstacles that had to be overcome to get as far as that one classroom.

Attendance at school between the ages of six and thirteen had been compulsory since 1875 but this applied only if there was a school within three miles of the child's home. The Education Department was willing to open a school for as few as six children (later enough children to maintain an average attendance of six) who were living more than three miles from an existing school if, and only if, there was a suitable building available for rent or hire at least during school hours

The Education Department did not take the initiative to open a school for children in isolated or newly-settled areas – parents had to apply for a school. There was a four-page standard application form printed for this purpose. The parents had to list the children who would attend and describe the building which was available for rental or hire. The need for a building to be provided before the government would open a school explains why the Karoonda Progress Association in 1912 and 1913 was so keen to acquire a site on which they could erect a hall and therefore put the community into a position where they could apply for a school. Delays in subdividing the town allotments meant that, while the pioneering farming families had settled on their land in 1911, there was no school for their children until January 1915.

There was one more "hurdle" to jump. A new Education Act passed in 1915 required the Minister of Education to be assured that there was, and would continue to be, an average daily attendance of at least twenty students before he could approve the erection of a permanent (i.e. solid construction) building in any locality. Average daily attendance at Karoonda school was 24.9 in 1915 and 24.7 in 1916. By late 1916 the Education Department was convinced that settlement in the Karoonda district was permanent and that the attendance would exceed twenty. Erection of a solid construction building was approved, much to everyone's relief, not least other users of the Institute hall.

In the Education Department file I located in 2014 there is a letter from the teacher (Mr Darwin) outlining the difficulties of sharing the hall with other users. He wrote to the Director of Education on October 20, 1917 as follows:

Would it be possible for me to move into the new school at an early date? It is finished except for the screwing down of the desks and seems to be thoroughly dry. My reasons for asking are

- 1. It is particularly uncomfortable in the Institute as concerts and socials and other meetings are constantly being held there and the school material thrown into confusion.*
- 2. The children have no shelter shed and if it is wet I have to let them come into the classroom at play time.*
- 3. The seating accommodation is not sufficient. Only 18 desks can be used and some of these are badly out of repair. Sometimes 40 children are present, which is more than the accommodation.*

By letter dated October 26, 1917, Mr Darwin was instructed to take possession of the new school on October 31st and open the school in the new building on November 5th. The residence would be available a week later. On November 5th Mr Darwin wrote to the Director informing him that in accordance with instructions received I opened the new school building today.

A photograph showing the single stone classroom and the residence, as erected in 1917, is on page 473 of Karoonda East Murray: A History to 1986.

The temporary/relocatable weatherboard classrooms so common in later years are not mentioned in the above story. There is a reason for this: the first of these weatherboards was not built until 1919, two years after the stone building at Karoonda.

Advance notice to changes to be introduced 1 July 2018

From 1 July 2018, it will be compulsory for:

- All dogs and cats over a certain age to be microchipped.
- All new generations of dogs and cats (born after July 2018) to be desexed exemptions apply for working dogs, registered breeders etc.

While the new desexing requirement only affects dogs and cats born after 1 July 2018, all dogs and cats must be microchipped by this date.

New rules for Breeders and Sellers

From 1 July 2018, breeders and sellers who breed dogs and cats for sale must register with the Dog and Cat Management Board as a breeder.

Breeders and sellers must now adhere to new industry standards and guidelines, which stipulate the minimum welfare conditions that must be met to comply with the state's animal welfare laws. For more information, visit the animal welfare section of environment.sa.gov.au

A new requirement for dog and cat sellers is to provide certain information in advertisements and to the buyer.

DACO – a new way to register your dog

From 1 July 2018, dog registrations, along with the way you manage your pet dog or cat's microchip, health and breeder information, will be simplified with the introduction of a new website.

Dogs and Cats Online (DACO) will be the central point for all your dog and cat management payments and information, replacing all individual council systems and private microchip databases currently in place.

Not only will DACO simplify your dog management needs, but it will streamline the process for councils, vets and animal welfare agencies too, giving these organisations instant access to information from around the state. This will help them reunite you and your lost dog quicker.

Council plays a vital role in dog management in your community. They are responsible for collection and return of stray dogs, investigating complaints of barking dogs and dog attacks. For this reason, councils will now have greater powers under the revised laws, including increases in some expiations and penalties.

Further information on responsible pet ownership and upcoming changes is attainable from the Dog and Cat Management Board website www.gooddogsa.com or by contacting Council's General Inspector.

Sandalwood Speed Shear 2017

The second annual Sandalwood Speed Shear competition was held on Saturday September 30 at the Sandalwood Hall.

Nearly 40 shearers in 3 classes; Open, Intermediate and Veteran were registered for the competition. They were supported and cheered on by family, friends, locals and visitors who travelled from Adelaide and further afield.

Allan Piggott from Illoura Rams provided the sheep for the competition. The day progressed with lively and expert commentary as each competitor did their best to get the fleece off in the quickest time and with the cleanest cut. Local judges kept a keen eye on the standards all day and used the red and green lights to quickly and fairly sort the passes from the fails.

Jimmy Samuels was the Open winner of the competition taking home $2,000, winning in a time of 24.28 seconds. The Intermediate winner was Halen Wakefield with 30.84 seconds, and the Veteran's title went to Ray Rudiger 46.31s.

Catering during the day was organised and provided by members of the Hall Committee, and for the evening meal which included delicious pig on a spit generously donated by the Rudiger Family at Elton Downs White Suffolks and roast lamb donated by C & S Boughen.

A very enjoyable and successful day which raised $2485 towards the running and upkeep of the community owned Hall. The Sandalwood Recreation Association would like to thank all

Lions Club

Many thank to Karoonda IGA for sponsoring the “Shrapnel Jar” and to all who contributed to this Lions measles eradication program. (There were some pretty heft looking five cent pieces at times!) You have helped the Club to make a meaningful donation to the cause.

That appeal has now run its curse locally, but the jar is back by request, now thirsty for those pesky 5 cent coins to support the proposed swimming pool.

The swimming pool appeal will also benefit from the raffle this year, tickets @ one dollar will be available from the usual places, and Lions.

Cant get away from the Christmas theme– the very popular Lions Christmas Cakes should be on sale now.. Prices this year are $13.00 for the 1kg cake, $17.00 for the 1 1/2kg, and Lions Christmas pudding will be available @ $13.00

Your Club continues the annual Christmas Hamper project jointly with the Ecumenical Council, for local people known to be going thru a difficult time at present. It seems this year likely that nearly thirty hampers of Christmas cheer will be presented.

While supporting various District and International projects when able to, our small Club always gives priority to local community needs. During the year two desperate families were assisted when brought to its notice.

The year’s fund raising was again dominated by a very successful, (perhaps record) Wynarka Off-Road Races weekend. Many thanks to all who generously helped with the catering, and to the Martin family for continued use of land and facilities.

Last year a new Lions Club was chartered at Lameroo, (with over forty members, something of a record for a small rural community) and District has appointed two Karoonda members as Guiding Lions for two years. They are dutifully paying regular visits to the new Mallee Lions Club, which has already well established its credentials by its very active service activity in Lameroo and further afield.

Happy and Enjoyable Christmas to all!

Mallee Seeps

Mallee seeps have been a problem in SA Murray-Darling Basin region for the past decade, however concern is growing with the formation of new seeps and existing seeps increasing in size as a result of the recent above average rainfall years. The geographic area affected by these seeps is also increasing. The main concern about the formation of Mallee seeps is the resulting loss of productive cropping land as soils become waterlogged and increasingly saline overtime, thereby becoming incapable of supporting crop growth. The risk of soil erosion also increases as there is little or no vegetative cover to protect it. The prevalence of weeds, particularly rye grass, on the margins of the seep areas may increase as these plants are better adapted to the harsh conditions Machinery access is limited due to the waterlogged and boggy nature of the soil and so management of weeds and pests can prove difficult in these areas.

Natural Resources SA Murray–Darling Basin (SAMDB) are undertaking several investigations into Mallee seeps through the establishment of trial sites to determine how best to prevent or rehabilitate affected seeps areas. Four trial sites have been established to assess options for treating seeps including;

- lucerne establishment near Bowhill
- soil improvement to improve crop root growth and water use near Karoonda
- saltbush and native vegetation establishment near Wynarka
- soil Moisture Monitoring under crop rotations and management near Wynarka

Natural Resources SAMDB is working in partnership with the Karoonda Agricultural Bureau to use Normalised Difference Vegetation index (NDVI) which measures the greenness of crops to determine if seep areas can be detected before they form. It is hoped NDVI may detect increased plant growth that occurs as a result of additional soil moisture relative to other parts of the paddock thereby possible indicating areas at risk of forming seeps in future.

For more information on managing Mallee Seeps, including trial reports, please visit the Natural Resources SAMDB webpage: <http://www.naturalresources.sa.gov.au/samurraydarlingbasin/land-and-farming/soils/soils-resources>

Photo caption1: A Mallee seep which has gone saline. There is very little vegetation present and no potential for growing crops

Photo caption2: Rye grass around the margins of a Mallee seep is difficult to manage as machinery access is limited due to the boggy soils.

This project is supported by the South Australian Murray-Darling Basin Natural Resources Management Board through funding from the Australian Government's National Landcare Programme and the NRM Levies

Take part in the Mallee seeps farmer survey

Seeps are becoming an increasing problem for Mallee farmers. Mallee Sustainable Farming, in collaboration with Mallee Catchment Management Authority and Natural Resources SAMDB are seeking to assess the extent, severity and possible causes of Mallee seeps.

This information will be used to help find practical solutions and secure funding for further research, extension and assistance.

If you are experiencing the growing problem of Mallee seeps (no matter how large or small), take a few moments to fill in this simple survey.

Fire Prevention Newsletter

FIRE DANGER SEASON 2017-2018

Property Preparedness

Keeping your home and property well prepared throughout the year is essential to ensure you survive a bushfire. A well prepared home can be easier for you or firefighters to defend, is more likely to survive (even if you're not home), and will give more protection if a fire threatens suddenly and you cannot safely leave.

It is important to remember that while built up areas and townships can provide relative safety, they can be impaired by substantial or poorly managed fuel loads in vacant blocks and back yards throughout the town.

It is also imperative that properties outside towns and safer places take steps to reduce or actively manage the fuel loads on their land.

Properties outside of towns should regularly inspect and manage the fuel loads on their property. Emergency Services may take longer to attend these properties so preventative maintenance is essential.

Property preparedness could include the following:

Around home:

- Spark & ember proofing
 - Cleaning gutters
- Clearing under-floor areas
- Check vents, crevices, where debris can gather

Around property:

- Mow & brush cut
- Remove fallen branches
- Move flammable piles away from dwellings (including neighbouring dwellings)
- Manage fuel loads on property
- Regularly inspect property

Fire Ban Districts

Fire ban districts and ratings can sometimes be confusing as there are 15 different fire ban districts throughout the state, often with varying ratings depending on the local conditions on the day.

This gets confusing as there are times when a Total Fire Ban day may be called in certain districts, but not in others. This often leads to confusion about whether certain activities can still take place. The District Council of Karoonda East Murray area falls under the Murraylands fire ban district.

When listening to the radio or looking for the Fire Danger Rating for this area, keep a look out for information relating to the Murraylands fire ban district.

Common Restrictions during the Fire Danger Season

Comfort Fires / Cooking Fires

On days that are not declared a Total Fire Ban, you can light and maintain a fire for comfort or cooking. The fire must be contained within a 30cm deep trench and does not occupy more than one square metre, and you have a 4 metre cleared space around the fire and a responsible person is in attendance the whole time with water and/or an extinguisher. On a Total Fire Ban day, you cannot light a fire for comfort or cooking with obtaining a Schedule 10 permit from Council.

Kettle BBQ (wood, charcoal, heat beads, etc—including solid fuel pizza ovens)

On days that are not declared a Total Fire Ban day, you can cook using a Kettle BBQ providing the space around has been cleared of all flammable material to a distance of 4 metres, and a person who is able to control the appliance is present at the site until extinguished, and an appropriate extinguisher is kept at hand. On a Total Fire Ban you can not operate a solid fuel Kettle BBQ without obtaining a Schedule 10 permit from Council.

Gas or Electric BBQ (including gas or electric pizza ovens)

On days that are not declared a Total Fire Ban, you can cook using gas or electric BBQs/Pizza Ovens providing the area around is cleared of all flammable material to a distance of 4 metres, and a person who is able to control the appliance is present at the site until extinguished, and an appropriate extinguisher is kept at hand. On a Total Fire Ban day a gas or electric BBQ can be used with the same requirements listed above, providing it is used within 15 metres of a domestic premise, or on a coastal foreshore.

Burning for Fire Prevention

Any burning for fire prevention on domestic properties must not occur during the Fire Danger Season. The provision exists for a permit to be issued, however this only occurs in exceptional circumstances. Any burning for fire prevention should take place prior to the commencement of the Fire Danger Season (typically 15th November unless advertised otherwise).

Chainsaws, Brush-cutters, Mowing & Slashing

On days that are not declared Total Fire Ban day you can operate a chainsaw etc. providing you have a 4 metre clearance around the activity or a portable water spray at hand, and there is a good working exhaust system fitted which all exhaust exit through, which prevents the escape of burning material, and heated parts of the system are prevented from coming into contact with flammable material. On days that are declared a Total Fire Ban, you should consider postponing the work to another day. If this is not an option, you can operate chainsaws, brush-cutters, mowers and slashers providing you adhere to the above requirements.

Angle Grinders, welders and any other metal friction or cutting tools

On days that are not declared a Total Fire Ban day, you can use angle grinders, welders or any other metal friction or cutting tool outside providing you have a 4 metre clearance around the activity and water or an extinguisher is kept at hand. On days that are declared a Total Fire Ban you must not use an angle grinder, welder, metal cutting or friction tools without obtaining a Schedule 10 Permit from Council. Permits will not always be issued so it is recommended the work be postponed where possible.

Schedule 10 Permits—Permits for Total Fire Ban Days

Various activities may be permitted throughout the Fire Danger Season, unless a Total Fire Ban day is declared. In the case that a Schedule 10 Permit is required on total Fire ban day, it is highly recommended that every effort is made to postpone the activity until the next day that is not declared a Total Fire Ban day. Permit issuing officers will assess every permit application on its merits, however Schedule 10 permits are only issued in exceptional circumstances or emergencies. If you're unsure about carrying out any activity, please contact Council.

Local Bushfire Safer Places

Bushfire Safer Places

A bushfire safer place is a place of relative safety which may be suitable as a first resort for people who leave early on high fire risk days. Properties on the edge or outskirts of the safer place may be at an increased risk compared to those closer to the centre. The relative safety of the properties towards the edge of the safer place may be improved by conduction maintenance before the Fire Danger Season. There are no guarantees regarding your safety if you choose to relocate to a bushfire safer place. It is unlikely you will be exposed to direct flame contact or severe radiant heat. You may still be exposed to smoke, spark & embers which may lead to smaller spot fires within the safer place.

It is important not to confuse a bushfire safer place with a last resort refuge. A bushfire safer place provides a higher level of safety compared to a last resort refuge.

Clearing Native Vegetation

Under the Native Vegetation Regulations 2017 you can assess native vegetation on your own property and undertake the removal of the vegetation providing it's:

- Within 20 metres of a dwelling; or;
- A fence line fuel break less than 5 metres wide

Clearance of native vegetation can be undertaken within 20 metres of a dwelling (not large trees that have a trunk circumference of 2 metres— at 1 metre above natural ground level).

Clearance can also be undertaken along a fenceline to establish or maintain a fuel break where the total width does not exceed 5 metres. However, the clearance must be undertaken in accordance with any applicable Bushfire Management Plan, and must be undertaken in accordance with the CFS guidelines Managing Native Vegetation: Reduce the Impact of Bushfire.

If you are unsure about whether you can clear the vegetation on your property, contact Council.

20 years of the Big Ram

Happy 20th Anniversary to our beloved Big Ram! It was 1997 when construction began on this Karoonda icon and his Merino good looks were based on photographs of the 1996 Adelaide Show Champion ram. Despite the “no climbing” sign, he’s survived multiple children (and adults) clambering aboard his back for photo opportunities, and we reckon he’ll be around to celebrate another 20 years. Check out these 1997 snaps from Council archives.
